Elaine Hayton, 40, Dies at Redlands

Frances Elaine Owen Hayton, SN'45, died April 24 at her home on 210 Belmont Court, Redlands, California. She was the wife of Arthwell Hayton, local lawyer and member of the University Board of Councillors. Services were April 29 in Redlands Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Mrs. Hayton, 40, was born in Nebraska. She was a member of the Volunteer Service League of the University Hospital.

Survivors include her husband, a daughter, Theresa, 13; three sons, William, 15, Bruce, 9 and Geoffrey 6. She is survived also by her mother, Mrs. Mason S. Squier of Loma Linda, and her father, William H. Owen of North Platte, Nebraska.

Former Students In Car Accident

Two former students in the School of Physical Therapy suffered face and head lacerations April 22 when they were involved in an automobile accident in San Bernardino.

Miss Morrine Jo (Jody) Frank and Mrs. Robert A. Nixon Jr., PT'62, both of Loma Linda, were taken to St. Bernadine's Hospital in San Bernardino, where they were released April 24.

The accident occurred shortly after 12 noon when the car in which the two women were riding, owned by Miss Frank and driven by Mrs. Nixon, was allegedly hit on the right side by another.

Both women are employed at Patton State Hospital, San Bernardino.

Mrs. Nixon's husband is a junior in the School of Dentistry. Miss Frank has been accepted to continue her studies in the School of Physical Therapy next fall.

Dean Smith Named To National Dental School Committee

Charles T. Smith, DDS, dean of the School of Dentistry, recently received an appointment to the Review Panel for Construction of Schools of Dentistry, United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He was recommended by Dr. Donald J. Galagan, chief of the division of dental public health and resources.

One of five deans on the 15-member panel, Dr. Smith will serve a two-year term expiring February 28, 1966.

"I consider it an honor to be elected to the committee," says Dean Smith.

Among other appointments which the dean holds is the chairmanship of the Western Association of Dental Deans. He will attend a meeting of the association May 12 in San Francisco.

The following day he will meet as a committee member with an advisory committee to California Governor Edmund G. Brown on dental education and dental manpower needs. The committee also will meet in San Francisco.

April 26 Dean Smith will speak in Las Vegas, Nevada, at the invitation of the Western Association of Dental Examiners. His address to the committee, which every year invites as speaker a West Coast dean, will be "Trends in Dental Education and Their Relationship to Dental Board Examinations."

Another meeting which Dr. Smith attended recently was the American Dental Association council on legislation. Present at the all-day session in San Francisco were dental leaders from nine western states.

Hospital Erects Clinical Office Building Here

A two-story temporary structure for clinical facilities is being constructed at Loma Linda University Hospital with completion in near future. The building will contain 14 offices and is located near the entrance across from the Hill Church.

It was necessary to erect this building, says Clarence A. Miller, hospital and campus business administrator, as there otherwise would be no facilities available for several hospital and faculty staff members. The building will be used for this purpose until we can move into the medical center in 1967, states Mr. Miller.

Hospital planning reported on this page reveals that the University Hospital will be utilized for convalescent care when the medical center has been completed. Mr. Miller says that 80 beds will be maintained for long-term convalescent patients.

The University Administration also has plans for future utilization of the present hospital facilities.

Vice President of Peru Addresses University Assembly, Visits Campus

STATESMAN VISITS THE UNIVERSITY. — Dr. Mario Polar, the Republic of Peru's vice president (left), addressed area newspapermen this week in the University faculty room. The goodwill tour of the University and the State of California was arranged by Dr. Robert M. Aragon of Los Angeles (right), who interpreted during the news conference. — Staff photo.

The University was host this week to an illustrious guest, Dr. Mario Polar Ugarthece, vice president of the Republic of Peru and a law professor at the University of Lima.

Dr. Polar, his wife and their two children visited the University April 27 while they were in southern California on an official state visit celebrating the goodwill enjoyed between their nation and the United States. He represented Peru at the Pan American Friendship Week, which concluded prior to his University visit.

The vice president spoke with the aid of an interpreter at the Monday morning convocation before students, faculty and employees of the University in the University Church.

He stressed the need for a closer acquaintance between the United States and Peru, saying that the "solidarity of the two Americas is vital."

"We are not united by geography or history," he said, "but by destiny." Emphasizing the need for solidarity, Dr. Polar pointed out that the United States depends more every day upon its external relations, therefore good will and security depend upon the stability of other countries, especially those in South America.

Following Dr. Polar's address, he conducted a news conference answering questions about Peruvian-Latin American affairs.

Accompanying Dr. and Mrs. Polar throughout their stay at the University were Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Aragon, of Pasadena, who served as interpreters. Dr. Aragon is an associate member of the School of Medicine Alumni Association.

Accompanying the daughter and son, Claudia and Alonso, were Karen R. Fillman, PT'64, and A. Wilberth Gonzalez, SM '67.

Mrs. Polar visited the University Cerebral Palsy Center where Bertha M. Appleton, educational director, conducted a tour of the facilities.

Planners Complete Foundation Drawings for Medical Center

LISTENING TO THE VICE PRESIDENT and his interpreter was Godfrey T. Anderson, president of the University. — Photo by Ellis Rich, Audiovisual Service.

Foundation drawings for Loma Linda University Medical Center were completed last week. Representatives for the architects met at Loma Linda for a ten-day conference with University department heads and are discussing architectural design with the building committee this week.

Robert L. Cone, vice president for financial affairs and chairman for the building committee, says the preliminary drawings up to this stage have been finished. He explains that the architects have been working on detailed plans in three stages, which makes it possible to start work on the foundation of the medical center July 1, three weeks after the June 7 groundbreaking.

Mr. Cone adds that the three-stage planning means a gain of six months, which should make it possible to complete construction of the medical center by March 1967. The 320-bed hospital and teaching facilities will be constructed by Del Webb and L. C. Havstad, general contractors.

The hospital will be located south of the University Church on a 20-acre plot that recently was cleared for the center. It will be a nine-story structure, counting the basement, built in the design of a cloverleaf, with three circular towers forming the hospital facilities and the "stem" of the complex making room for offices, teaching quarters, outpatient clinics and research facilities, laboratories, etc.

After the luncheon Dr. Polar traveled to Los Angeles where he toured University facilities at the White Memorial Medical Center and Los Angeles County General Hospital.

A member of Peru's Christian Democratic Party, Dr. Polar is said to be a likely future presidential candidate.

Irma Vyhmeister Named '64 Alumna; ND Students Complete Internship

The School of Nutrition and Dietetics Alumni Association April 26 honored Irma B. Vyhmeister, ND'58, associate professor of nutrition and dietetics, as alumna of the year.

Ruth Little, professor and director of the school, presented a plaque to Mrs. Vyhmeister during the annual homecoming in Griggs Hall, citing her "devotion and untiring service" to the profession and to the school.

Born in Chile, she taught at Colegio Adventista de Chile, a junior college, before coming to the United States.

A graduate of La Sierra College, Arlington, California, in 1956 with a major in foods and nutrition, Mrs. Vyhmeister also was graduated from the University School of Nutrition and Dietetics with a Master's degree in 1958.

She has held the office of president of the Alumni Association, during which time she gave the association "a shot in the arm," says Dr. Little.

Attendance for the homecoming, which began with a Hawaiian luau dinner featuring exotic foods, reached over 70. In charge of the event was Dorothea Van Gundy Jones, ND'27, association president.

Speaker for the evening was Clinton C. Emmerson, DDS, professor of pedodontics in the School of Dentistry, who spoke on "How Are You?," challenging each alumnus to be "the finest dietitian there is."

"Most people are so pre-occupied that they don't hear a word you say," said Dr. Emmerson. "You must break that pre-occupation by appealing to them on the right emotional level. You must present nutrition with the right appeal."

Enthusiasm is an essential ingredient in the presentation of nutrition, he said. "With a commodity to sell such as health, you must be enthusiastic and look healthy."

In closing Dr. Emmerson said, "You are the hope of the world. I dare you to eat right, to live properly. For unless you practice what you preach you really don't believe it."

Following Dr. Emmerson's talk, Mrs. Robert Exeter, fashion coordinator from Riverside, spoke on "The Personality of Clothes" tying in with the overall theme of the program, "Improving Our Professional Image."

She pointed out that the dietitian should dress in a simple, dignified manner, presenting a conservative image to the world in line with the profession.

A fashion show of uniforms suitable for the nutritionist, narrated by Mrs. Exeter, followed.

Joining the ranks of the school's alumni were students who are completing dietetic internships and master's degrees.

Dr. Little presented the students. Interns are: Linda S. Baird, Patricia H. Black, C. Malini Chetty, Sharon L. Culpepper, Marlene C. Ellstrom, Peggy R. Greenley, Roger R. Greenley, Philomine H. Yo, Barbara M. Jemison.

Verla J. Olson, Clyde J. Sample, Shirley D. Wettstein and Liwanag I. Reyes.

Master's degree candidates: Daisy M. Cunningham, Ruth M. Deming, Marian A. Fedak, Darlene I. Manullang, Jessie M. Harper, Kathleen G. Huff, Edith E. Rufer and Ruth M. Shipp.

Cerebral Palsy Campaign Begins; Dr. Hon Speaks on Research, Progress

Speaker for the seventh-annual United Cerebral Palsy Association campaign kick-off luncheon last week in Los Angeles was Edward H. G. Hon, SM'50, professor of gynecology and obstetrics in the School of Medicine.

His topic at the luncheon, which was attended by several Hollywood personalities, was "Research! Giant Strides."

Also in attendance were Mrs. John E. Roach Jr., from the San Bernardino County United Cerebral Palsy Association, and John Parrish, University public information officer.

The campaign goal set for the southern California area is $400,000. That portion of the goal which originates in San Bernardino County, less certain expenses, will go to the county association. A large share of the money will be awarded to the University Cerebral Palsy Center, since it is the only such facility maintained by the association.

Several events in May will center around the campaign, the first of which will be May 1 when Mrs. Roach and Ruth Hablutzel, registered physical therapist at Loma Linda University Hospital, will appear on "Between Us Girls," a television program originating from San Bernardino on Channel 18, KCHU.

During the show, program hostess Sally Baker will interview Bertha M. Appleton, educational director of the University Cerebral Palsy Center, who will be in the audience along with about 25 occupational and physical therapy students from the University and a few registered therapists.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Roach's son, Johnny, and Jimmy Sidener, son of Mrs. Jenice Sidener and Mr. Gene H. Sidener, of Rialto. Both children are cerebral palsy victims and receive treatment at the center.

The television program will be projected toward an open house which the center will conduct May 7 between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. The day, for which Mrs. Roach is chairman, has been designated "A Day to Remember."

The final event centering on the campaign will be a telethon from Hollywood beginning the night of May 16 and continuing through May 17. Emcee for the program, which will be telecast on Channel 9 from Los Angeles, will be Dennis James.

Telethon chairman for the San Bernardino area is Stella Denne, secretary of the Sierra Savings and Loan Association in San Bernardino.

Table Clinics Need Dynamic Approach Writes Dr. Lutz

An article by Kenneth R. Lutz, PhD, assistant professor of speech pathology in the School of Medicine, appears in the March issue of the Detroit Dental Digest.

The article, "What Is a Table Clinic?," expands on the popular definition — "a scientific or clinical idea presented from a table."

Aspects which a table clinic should have, Dr. Lutz points out, are purposiveness, vitality, simplicity, props, conciseness and audience participation.

But the most essential aspect, he concludes, is a dynamic presentation. "For a dynamic presentation each of these factors is blended harmoniously with the personality of the clinician and the nature of his topic into a product in which the whole far exceeds the sum of the constituent parts."

Appearing on the telethon program will be children and therapists from the Cerebral Palsy Center, according to Mr. Parrish.

The final day of the telethon, May 17, several Hollywood stars, including Comedian Bob Hope, will fly to San Bernardino by helicopter, landing on the parking lot of the White Front Discount Store, where they will present a benefit stage show.

Cerebral Palsy Center Open House Planned at University

The public will be given an opportunity to see and learn about a unique treatment and development center for cerebral palsied children of San Bernardino County on May 7, at the Cerebral Palsy Center, 25037 Mound Street.

Plans for the day-long program, to feature a short tour and demonstrations for each visitor, were approved last week by directors of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of San Bernardino County. The county organization is co-sponsor of the Loma Linda University-UCP Center, a non-sectarian facility for children afflicted with cerebral palsy.

"The children's center in Loma Linda is the only place in San Bernardino County where many parents can get help for their cerebral palsied youngsters," says Mrs. John E. Roach, Jr., chairman for the event.

"We're calling the May 7 program 'A Day to Remember,' and think our visitors will agree with the name," Mrs. Roach says. "Miracles are happening at the center for handicapped children from across the country. We believe the people who have contributed to UCP directly or through the Arrowhead United Fund should have a chance to see how profitable their investment has been. We also hope they will be joined by other county residents who care enough for children to come and see how they are being helped," she reported after the monthly directors' meeting.

The center is staffed by teachers, therapists and physicians from Loma Linda University. It is the only facility in San Bernardino County established to help cerebral palsy victims who are under four years of age or otherwise do not meet entrance requirements of state-supported schools for the handicapped.

Children enrolled in the center receive prescribed physical and occupational therapy and take part in individual and group activities designed to develop their educational and social abilities.

Dental Hygiene Class Visits LLU

The 40 members of the University of Southern California dental hygiene senior class visited the campus of Loma Linda campus last week in exchange for a visit paid their campus recently by the senior dental hygiene class here.

During the morning they toured the campus and heard Charles T. Smith, DDS, dean of the School of Dentistry, speak on the future of dental hygiene and how they, as prospective dental hygienists, could affect it.

Alice Haas, Dental Hygiene Curriculum guest lecturer, also addressed the group on the subject of speech habits and development of a pleasing voice. Mrs. Haas presently lectures weekly to the senior class on personality development. She taught the class, which will be instated as a regular part of the curriculum, last semester to the juniors.

After lunch in the cafeteria the USC class spent the afternoon observing the LLU dental hygiene students at work in the clinic.

The exchange visits, which are annual events, foster better understanding between the schools, says Violet D. Bates, director of the LLU curriculum. They also provide opportunity to compare the manner in which the courses are conducted.

Director of the USC dental hygiene curriculum is Ruth Raglund.

The two schools and the University of California, Berkeley, are the only institutions that offer a degree in dental hygiene in the state of California.

School of Medicine Banquet Honors Senior Student, Faculty Members

The University School of Medicine junior and senior group this week presented the Daniel D. Comstock award to a senior student and seven awards to faculty members of the school at the annual banquet. Highlight in the Junior-sponsored event was an address by Mrs. Kemper Campbell, emeritus professor of legal medicine.

Selected for the Comstock award was John E. Hodgkins. He received the medalion, which is granted annually, for "most distinguished performance." Selection is based on scholarship, scientific interest and skill, selfless devotion to patient care and such personal attributes as integrity and dependability.

The award is given in honor of Dr. Daniel D. Comstock, professor of medicine and chairman of the department of internal medicine from 1919 to 1939. It was presented to Mr. Hodgkins by Dr. David B. Hinshaw, dean of the school.

The seven awards to faculty members were presented by senior students. They stated in their presentations that the awards were given to their beloved teachers represented by seven of them. Mutual understanding, outstanding teaching and scientific performance were some of the attributes that the speakers referred to.

Honored were Roy V. Jutzy, assistant professor of internal medicine in charge of the Riverside Hospital externship; Morton M. Woolley, associate professor of surgery; Raymond A. Mortensen, professor of biochemistry; Arthur J. Riesenfeld, assistant professor of internal medicine; Isaac Sanders, instructor in radiology; and Jerald C. Nelson, assistant professor of internal medicine.

The senior students who made the presentations in the above order were Donald R. Miller, Edward C. Allred, Richard L. Neil, Hubert A. Dame, Frances Z. Gutierrez and John W. Mace.

Presenting a frank and witty speech on the subject of "doctors," Mrs. Campbell said she was the sole survivor of the first faculty at Loma Linda University, then College of Medical Evangelists. Her address was an honest appraisal of the medical profession in which she predicted that socialized medicine would soon reach the United States. She didn't think the physicians were to blame for socialized medicine anywhere but that hospital and medicine costs had skyrocketed and therefore had laid the way for public demands.

Godfrey T. Anderson, president of the University, gave the invocation. Dr. Isaac Sanders was master of ceremonies and John E. Bottsford, president of the junior class, greeted the large audience of students, faculty members, their wives and others in a welcome address. Orville W. Swarner, banquet vice president, was in charge of the program.

The banquet was at Huntington-Sheraton Hotel, Pasadena, April 26.

Frances Gutierrez makes the presentation of an award to Dr. Isaac Sanders, emcee at the banquet.

DEAN DAVID B. HINSHAW presents the Comstock award to John E. Hodgkins, SM'64. At right Mrs. Campbell, featured speaker, is watching.

Edward Allred makes the award presentation to Dr. Morton Woolley.

An absentia award presentation is given to Dr. Raymond Mortensen by Richard Neil.

Book Talk

By ALICE GREGG

A collection of literary pieces ranging over a period of a century has been compiled by Sonia Barry. Entitled A TREASURY OF NURSE STORIES BY WORLD FAMOUS AUTHORS (Fell, 1962), it wittily shows the shift in attitude toward the nurse from the "ministering angel," to the austere bedroom mechanic, to the flesh-and-blood nurse of today.

With the delicate craftsmanship that made them famous, the writers — from Louisa Mae Alcott to George Garrett — presented a form of story that most closely fitted their needs. Only one of the twenty writers chose the situation story. The rest were concerned with the revelation of a character.

How the nurse or patient reacts in the face of illness is the question. The nurse is the focus of attention in twelve of the stories, and the patient in eight. Miss Barry has selected carefully to give unity and historical perspective to this collection.

America's epic poet and short-story writer, Stephen Vincent Benet, wrote without shame of his feelings toward illness and death in "No Visitors" shortly before his death of a heart attack:

"Now the shadow of pain had strengthened, but you could expect that, still, in the afternoon. You didn't get over a serious operation in a day or a week. Only now the docs knew what to do.

"I suppose fifty years ago I'd be dead, he thought solemnly. It was good to be able to think of that quickly and without fear. He took out the thing in the secret part of his mind and looked at it. Yes; he had been afraid to die. Even talking off-handedly with Pete and in spite of the pain, it had come for a moment like a wave, the blind primal terror. He'd held on to Rosalie's hand. And then they'd given him the shot and you had to be a gentleman. But the terror had been there."

Sophomore 'Meds' Top League; Defeat PT Team in 2nd Win

A near no-hitter and a grand-slam homerun highlighted the intramural softball games at Loma Linda April 24.

The sophomore medical team defeated the junior-senior physical therapy team in the first game 4-0. Larry D. Bennett, PT'64, pitcher, collected the only hit with two out in the seventh inning to spoil Gayle H. Nelson's bid for a no-hitter. Dr. Nelson is associate professor of anatomy in the School of Medicine. The game was the second victory for the sophomores. They defeated the freshman medical team last week.

In the second game the regular pitcher for the junior-senior dental team failed to appear and the freshman-sophomore dental team romped over the opponents 17-4. H. Edwin Gang, SD'66, hit a first-inning homerun with the bases loaded. Richard W. Ludders and S. Ernest Bleakley, SD'67, added round-trippers for the winners. C. Donald Silver, SD'65, lofted one over the right center field fence in a losing cause.

May 1 the junior-senior physical therapy team will play the junior-senior dental team. The game originally was scheduled for May 13.

Red Cross to Recruit Youth For Service to Convalescents

Red Cross is recruiting ninth, tenth and eleventh grade students to aid patients and residents in convalescent and nursing homes in this area. This new volunteer program welcomes those who can meet the high qualifications that Red Cross has maintained through the years and who have the desire and ability to give of themselves without thought of monetary reward.

Announcing the initiation of this youth volunteer service is Oliver Jacques, chairman of the Red Cross Youth Program for the Redlands chapter and member of the Redlands chapter board of directors. Mrs. Parker Huntington will be staff director of the service.

Mr. Jacques, who is director of University public relations, says the purpose of the service is to enrich the patients' lives, to fight the loneliness of the confined and give them the feeling that someone cares. The volunteers will not do the work of the nursing home staff but will add to the happiness of patients in the performance of certain defined duties.

The chapter has developed a training program designed to give the volunteers a sufficient knowledge of Red Cross in order to make them effective representatives of the organization. Orientation to the services involved in a medical setting will be a part of the training. The chapter will announce dates for the training classes during the month of May.

Who May Volunteer

Boys and girls in the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades are eligible for consideration. They must be willing to work "for free" at least half a day per week on a regular basis from June 22 through Labor Day in September. A two-week vacation will be allowed.

They also must be willing and able to take Red Cross group training on one or two days assigned by the chapter and on-the-job training in the rest home to which they are assigned. They must have funds to purchase and must be willing to wear the Red Cross uniform when they are working ($4.85 plus $1.95 for a white blouse).
