The Current Report

Welcome to the new students

The department of dental hygiene has welcomed 40 new junior students from 20 different universities and colleges.

The average age is 25, and the group includes five international students representing Canada, El Salvador, and Vietnam. Twelve are dental assistants, one has been a dental technologist, and one has been a Navy nurse.

Student Tina Morphis has the distinction of being a daughter and granddaughter of alumni of this school. Three others in this class are daughters of alumni, including Amy Feldkamp, Robyn Kiger, and Tiffany Ziegenhagel. Dr. James Crawford, executive associate dean, has the privilege of having his granddaughter, Heather Watts, in the class.

We look forward to becoming acquainted with these students who will bring enthusiasm and sparkle to the School.

We are also pleased to welcome the 90 members of the dental class of 1999, who represent 25 universities and colleges. The largest college representation this year is from La Sierra University.

There are 61 men and 28 women, with an average age of 24 years old. They come from 16 countries and 13 states in the U.S.

The class includes one medical technologist, one radiology technician, several engineers, a former professional tennis player, a ski instructor, a cabinet maker, a bank teller, and several dental assistants.

Biology was chosen as a college major by 33 in the class, with other majors including psychology, music, engineering, business, political science, human resource management, and theology.

Eight students—Devin Anderson, Chris Aufdemberg, Scott Miller, Brandon Nash, Jeff Payne, Jodi Swanberg, Brooks Uniati, and Rob Walter—are sons or daughters of School of Dentistry alumni. Richard Chapman, whose wife, Robin, graduated from the School in 1990, and Michael Pullen, whose father-in-law, Irving Feldkamp, graduated in 1971, are class members.

There are six students with the surname of Kim, four with the surname of Nguyen, and two with the surname of Wilson. Yvi and Ylang Nguyen, who are twins, are in the class.

We hope that each student will find both challenge and satisfaction in their coursework, and see LLU as a caring environment during their years as student dentists.

Clinic 120 Campaign

Students on the Move

Students serve students

A group of School of Dentistry students has been actively involved in the Healthy Start program at the Peter Pendleton Elementary School in Coachella Valley.

J. B. Jablonski, DDS, director of extramural programs, and his team of student volunteers have converted a classroom into a six-chair clinic. Four units and one chair were donated by A-Dec Corp.; the remaining equipment was adapted from donations by many sources.

The dental students are discovering this experience develops expertise in pediatric dentistry. Multiple pulpotomies, restorations, and sealants, as well as prophies and fluoride treatments, are commonplace.

The School of Dentistry students have also been learning patient management, instrument care, and sterilization, and have been able to gain first-hand experience in setting up equipment for a portable dental clinic.

Hostesses in Coachella Valley have provided food to the students.

LLU teams will return several times during November and December.

Most recent student participants include student leaders Kris Putrasahan and Dean Funada, as well as Dave Canale, Fidel Delgadillo, Hung Do, Jenny Lee, Shaun Lee, Billy Liang, Sergey Lozan, Katsuko Matsui, Carlos Morales, Hiep Nguyen, Rick Penman, Schubert Sopian, Clara Song-Lee, Peter VandenHoven, Brenda and David Reimche-Vu, Junko Yamamoto, and Todd Yost.

New student assistants introduced to School family

Orientation for Chaffey and Baldyview student assistants was held. Approximately 60 students took part in the two-week orientation, listening to speakers who covered diverse topics in the dental field.

Duane Wacker, DDS, associate professor of restorative dentistry, spoke regarding DAU principles in school and private practice.

Chuck Yetter, assistant director of maintenance, conducted a tour of the School and presented a quick mini seminar on how to take care of equipment. (Chuck will conduct a continuing education class February 11 on keeping dental equipment in good condition. It would be a great class for assistants!)

Michelle Rice, supervisor of patient relations, addressed the interaction between students and patients.

Mary Hartwell, clinic manager, spoke on professionalism in the dental office and hiring techniques.

Carol Sorrels, supervisor of dental radiology, gave a tour of radiology and demonstrated the two-towel technique for developing film.

During the second week of orientation, Todd Milledge, SD'88, instructor of pediatric dentistry, taught a nitrous oxide class, and Josonjia Thompkins, assistant supervisor of sterilization, demonstrated the School policy on sterilization techniques.

FAMILY CLINIC PROTOCOL

Purpose

Family Clinic is designed to make it possible for graduate, dental, and dental hygiene students to provide basic dental care for their spouses and children or for other dental and dental auxiliary students outside of the regular clinic hours and at reduced fees.

Eligibility

Beneficiaries are limited to students, their spouses, and children and parents for whom students ordinarily pay health care expenses. Brothers and sisters, in-laws, and other relatives and friends for whom students do not pay dental expenses may not be treated in Family Clinic.

Dental treatment

Procedures are limited to the following:

- 1) Silver alloy restorations including pins, if needed
- 2) Composite resin restorations
- 3) Prophylaxis including root planing, if needed

Radiographs

If radiographs are taken during regular clinic hours, the usual clinic fees apply. Since the intent of Family Clinic is to service urgent dental needs only, the student coordinator will be provided with films to be used during Family Clinic. Film usage will be limited to single films of the specific teeth to be treated. Full mouth x-rays will NOT be allowed.

Records

All patients will need charts. They will be identified with a Family Clinic stamp and can only be used during regularly scheduled Family Clinic sessions. Students will be responsible for obtaining charts for their patients during regular clinic hours before the Family Clinic session. For new charts, screening sheets and registration forms must be completed and signed by the patients prior to any dental treatment.

Progress notes

The student dentist must follow regular recording procedures in the progress notes. This will satisfy the medical-legal requirements of the School in its responsibility to ALL patients treated in the facilities.

Faculty supervision

A faculty member must be present during the entire Family Clinic session. Duties include:

- 1) Providing signatures for permission to proceed in the progress notes of the record
- 2) General supervision of patient treatment for purposes of patient safety and adequacy of care

Charges

To help cover some of the material costs, the patient will be charged $5 for each session. The fee will be collected by the student supervisor at the beginning of each session.

Number of sessions

Family Clinic may be conducted approximately once a month during the academic year. Clinics can only be held if faculty coverage is available. Sessions may not be conducted during academic recess.

Faculty/Alumni Bulletin

SD teacher represents school at AADS

George Lessard, PhD, professor of biochemistry and dental education, School of Dentistry, served as a representative of Loma Linda at two AADS conferences between October 18 and 23.

As councilor of the section on biochemistry and nutrition, he participated in the evaluation of recommendations of the Institute of Medicine report on dental education. This report, commissioned by the dental profession, makes 22 recommendations for the reform of dental education.

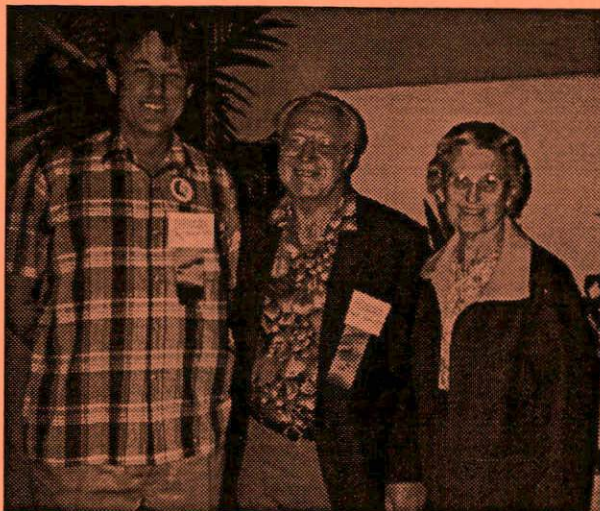

The conference ranked as most important curriculum reform, including a shift to active learning formats. Next was comprehensive patient care with a concomitant shift to competency-based as opposed to requirement-based criteria for graduation. The third recommendation was a shift from a surgical to a medical model for dental education, including integration of medical and dental foundation sciences.

As section councilor he also participated in the drafting of a set of national competencies for dental education. This set of valuable abilities and skills will be integrated into the new ADA Accreditation Standards for Dental Education Programs which will, after April 1, 1996, become the standards by which all dental schools will be accredited.

Dr. Lessard commented about the collegiality and enthusiasm which allowed participants at each of these important conferences to develop national agendas over very short periods of time and the unity apparent in the goals of the participants.

Alumni meet in Las Vegas

Twenty-nine of 38 LLUSD classes were represented at the alumni

reception hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Goodacre during the ADA session in Las Vegas in October. Also enjoying the event were dental hygienists, faculty, staff, students, and friends.

Classes from 1958 through 1995 were represented among the approximately 100 guests attending the reception held at the Alexis Park Resort.

Attending from the greatest distance was David L. Johnson, SD'69, from Bangladesh. He joined other members of the Dean's Circle at a special pre-reception. Alumni came from 11 states, including Arizona, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, and Washington.

Below: Enjoying the alumni reception were Mrs. Arlene Klooster, wife of dean emeritus Judson Klooster, and Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Rick. Guests represented 29 different classes from the School of Dentistry and came from 11 states to the October event.

Endodontics

Mahmoud Torabinejad, DMD, PhD, director of the graduate endodontic program, has coauthored the second edition of a textbook with Richard Walton, DMD, of the University of Iowa. Principles and Practice of Endodontics was published by W. B Saunders Company. Other faculty contributors from Loma Linda include Leif K. Bakland, DDS, chair; Alfred Frank,, DDS, professor; John Ingle, DDS, senior lecturer; and Douglas McKendry, DDS, associate professor.

Periodontics

- Ulf Wikesjö, DDS, PhD, professor of advanced periodontics, and Leonardo Trombelli, DDS, visiting faculty in advanced periodontics, attended the oral wound healing symposium in Bologna, Italy. Dr. Wikesjö was the keynote speaker for this gathering of periodontists, oral surgeons, endodontists, and plastic surgeons.

Research

- Ralph P. Feller, DMD, director of clinical research, received the 1995 ADA Special Achievement Award for dedication and service to dentistry at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association in Las Vegas in October. Congratulations, Dr. Feller!

Newsnotes

High school students visit School

The School of Dentistry family recently hosted a tour for visitors from Blair High School in Pasadena.

Duane Wacker, DDS, associate professor of restorative dentistry; Sandy Goldbach, assistant director of admissions; Coralie Dinger, DH'90, dental hygiene instructor; Mary Hartwell, clinic manager; Dawn Perry, DAU dental assistant; and Marci Stirl, floater, all spoke and gave the students an overview of the various positions and jobs available in a professional workplace.

Insurance finds a new home

The insurance office, under the supervision of Judy Adams, has changed location, moving from their old offices in the Anderson Street building to a house at 224871 Taylor Street.

Mission opportunities!

Your dental skills are needed in . . .

Nairobi - now
Bulawayo - Jan'96
Bangladesh - now
Trinidad - Jan'96
Moscow - May'96
Gweru - Apr'96

Additionally, dental hygienists are needed in Hong Kong and Moscow.

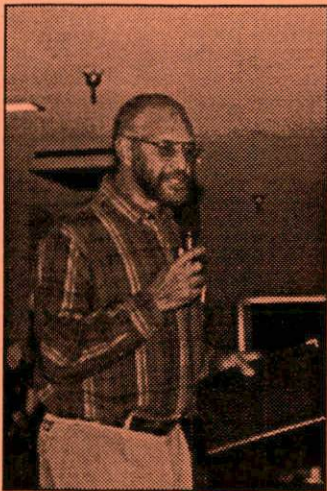

Call Dr. Crawford at x44607 for more information about these mission opportunities.

The move originated from the need to make more space for the expanding clinical psychology program. The new location has about the same amount of room, says Ron Secor, clinic director, but for the first time insurance has access to the fiberoptic backbone, enabling them to interface with the University.

The office staff are enjoying the privacy of their new location.

A time to give

Every year the School of Dentistry family has donated money and food items to help students and employees. Last year 25 student families and five employee families were helped.

Again we ask you to help make this holiday season a wonderful one for yourself and others.

Please bring your gifts to Mary Hartwell's office, room 2299, by Friday, November 17.

A job well done

Dental records departmental audit this fall revealed three departments with perfect audits: screening, OM/TMJ, and hygiene. Additionally, private insurance showed the most improvement. Each department will receive a certificate.

Dental records offers congratulations and special thanks for their hard work. We appreciate the efforts of all departments in keeping track of patient charts.

Staff help needy children

Two members of the School of Dentistry family recently joined about 225 children and young adults to celebrate the second annual Public Lands Appreciation Day in Barton Flats.

Linda Roddick was featured with a youngster in a story run on the event by the San Bernardino Sun.

Linda Roddick, RDA, CDA, assistant supervisor at Loma Linda Endodontics, and Rosanne Wease, dental assistant and purchase coordinator for Faculty Dental Office, were part of the many volunteers at Jenks Lake who helped youngsters from poor families, as well as the physically disabled and those suffering from sickle-cell anemia, with their fishing skills. The children also learned about wild animals and medicinal plants.

Many of them had never been to the mountains. It was a very rewarding day for the volunteers who represented the San Gorgonio Volunteer Association, L.A. County Sheriff's Department, and Chevron Corp. McDonalds provided lunches and Smokey helped give out hugs.

"It was a clear, sunny, blue-sky day," says Linda, "and the Lord gave out so many smiles that our hearts were very happy."

Other sites in the mountains celebrating the day were Snow Valley ski area, the Pacific Crest Trail, and campgrounds in Big Bear.

Welcome

Welcome to the following new employees:

- Pen Braister is transferring from LLUMC to be a secretary for emergency/screening
- Renee Richardson is a new RDA in international dentistry
- Tya LeForge, daughter of Vicki Gann in implant dentistry, has joined dental computing as a "back-up" worker. She comes in late at night to back up the computer data.

Lounge gets a new look

The School of Dentistry lounge has a new look and a new menu.

Through the efforts of many in the School, $30,000 was raised toward the makeover.

Two cash registers are helping keep the food lines shorter, and there are additional hot entrees and a specialty food bar. The cafe is now open from mid-morning, with breakfast snacks starting at 10 a.m.

Students are now getting a 10% discount and we're still working on better food pricing.

There will be a dedication ceremony in a few weeks when the balance of the remodeling is completed. Look forward to hot apple pie a la mode!

Update on School downsizing

Downsizing has taken place throughout the School of Dentistry during the last several months, and we would like to bring you up to date on these changes.

A review of the School budget showed that we would have to tighten our belts and become more creative with less staff. Some very good ideas were introduced into this process and we have been able to successfully make the changes while still getting the work done.

ADMINISTRATION: one administrative secretary was not replaced when staff left

IDP: one PT dental assistant not replaced when staff left

DENTAL RECORDS: one FT coordinator not replaced when staff transferred

ORAL SURGERY: one FT coordinator transferred to new position

GANR: one FT assistant supervisor not replaced when staff left

MAIN CLINIC: one FT floater/secretary not replaced when staff left

DAU: one FT dental assistant transferred to new position

ORTHODONTICS: one FT dental assistant transferred to new position

IMPLANT DENTISTRY: two FT RN positions eliminated; one PT dental assistant with readjusted position among current staff; one FT supply coordinator position eliminated (implant, GANR, and oral surgery share one employee to do ordering for three departments)

INSURANCE: one FT insurance biller transferred to new position

DATA ENTRY: one FT records specialist not replaced when staff left

INFECTION CONTROL: one PT office aide position eliminated

STERILIZATION: one FT sterilization technician not replaced when staff left

DENTAL MAINTENANCE: one FT foreman position eliminated; one FT electrician transferred to new position

DENTAL SUPPLY: one junior accountant position eliminated

PHYSICAL THERAPY: one PT physical therapy assistant eliminated

LOMA LINDA ENDODONTICS: one

Benjamin Franklin
1706-1790

PT dental assistant not replaced

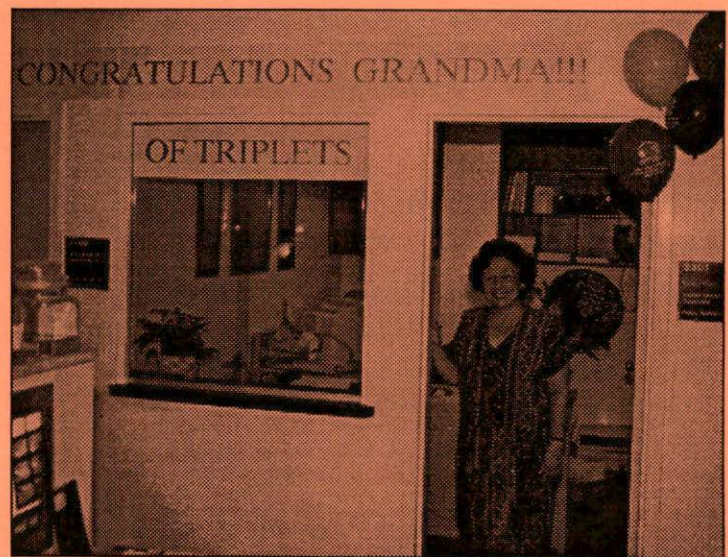

DAU: one supervisor position will retire at end of 1995 and not be replaced

GRADUATE PEDIATRIC DENTISTRY: one dental assistant added, as recommended during accreditation

We now look forward to a revitalized and successful school year. Some changes may be difficult, but we can be creative and prosperous as we continue to work together as a School family.

Congratulations

• Michael Devlin, SD'91, senior resident in oral surgery, was married to Dena Tiritilli, DH'93, dental hygiene instructor, on Saturday, October 14, at the Our Lady of Assumption church in San Bernardino. The couple honeymooned in Hawaii.

• Anahid Benzatyan, director of the patient business office, is the proud grandmother of triplets!

Epic racquetball tourney ends

Several members of the School family have been neck and neck in a racquetball tournament which ended recently.

A tortuous flowchart—which could only be produced by a computer programmer—was drawn up by Carl Imthurn and Ruben Hernandez who, coincidentally, work in dental computing.

Dental computing is offering a cash prize to anyone who can actually figure out their flowchart.

The tourney started with eight players who competed in two brackets, the winners and the losers. Participating were Julie Cranfill, periodontics; Jim Farrage and Jim Tuttle, orthodontics; Carl Imthurn and Ruben Hernandez, dental computing; Stan Lillard, maintenance, and his brother James Cramner; and Diana Gomez, formerly in implant dentistry.

By the second round, poor ortho had been slammed out of the competition, and things were becoming rabid. Eventually, Ruben—in the losers bracket—overtook Carl; and James—in the winners bracket—overtook Julie.

The final match of James and Ruben resulted in Ruben carrying the day, making him the winning loser. Sort of.
