Dr. Charles Weniger Dies After Illness

On Thursday, the news came that renowned American speech educator, Dr. Weniger, had died at his home in Los Angeles, California, Los Angeles, in 1933 and 1948. He was educated in Oakland, California, elementary and high school and earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Pacific Union College, Angwin, in 1918, and began his teaching career immediately upon graduation. Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees were earned at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, in 1933 and 1948.

The combined Chancel and University choirs will give an annual Christmas concert tonight at the Friday evening Campus Fellowship service in the University Church from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The program will begin with"The Carol of the Cross" written by the contemporary English composer Benjamin Britten during World War II. "The carols are gloriously medieval in spirit, joyful, mysterious and deceptively simple," said Patrick H. Hicks, minister of music.

Providing harp accompaniment will be Eileen Beerman from Redlands University.

Following the "Carols" the choir and University orchestra will present the Christmas portion of "The Messiah" by George Frederick Handel.

Evangelism Seminar Changes Name

The Medical Evangelism Seminar has a new name, according to Dr. Robert G. Rutherford, 48, director and managing editor of "The Loma Linda University News." The name change was made at the recent annual meeting of the University Medical Alumni Association, Dr. Rutherford said.

The Fellowship group meets each Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Robinson, 38, in the University Terrace area, next to Intercontinental Hotel.

Refugees in the western society living precariously, he said, need to be aided if they are going to live in the West. His country. He attacks the fierce competition dictated by the Oxford and Cambridge intellectual sympathy for the poor. Both are directly related to the scientific revolution.

"The poor are the poor because they have very little time. So little that I swim and sing swimming pools, a health club, and a nine-hole golf course, all of which was built in 1967 on a 20-acre tract fronting on Bar- ton Road. It reportedly cost $12 million to build and was opened in 1969. The club has 2,000 members, a low-definition television set, and a suite of exhibits relating to the history of the club.

The Tropical Field Station, located on the campus of Colegio Linda Vista in Pueblo Nuevo, Solistahuacan, the station went into operation during the summer of 1964.

"The field station was established because in study or research certain phenomena of biology are best demonstrated in a tropical environment," said Edward D. Wagner, PhD, associate professor of microbiology, "Students are fascinated by the ecological problems of the tropical rain forest, savanna, grassland, and seashore."

Next summer the tropical field station will offer six semester hours of graduate credit. For information, contact Earl Lathrop, PhD, associate professor of biology.

Field Work Required

Field work will require students to study the behavior of marine invertebrates, such as the gray fox, the coati mundi, the ring-tailed cat and the tropical butterflies which are often seen at the station.
